Here is a little bit about The Animal Talent Ltd:

Founded in 2022 and the subject matter of a Reuters short film, The Animal Talent is a full-service agency based in London, UK. The agency provides the most professional, happiest animal models, actors and influencers for film, television, print editorials, marketing, and social media.

Ethos:

We believe the set should be a positive and fun place for an animal. It's inevitable that this will ultimately show in their performance on camera. So, for us, it's essential that the wellbeing of our talent comes first. We achieve this by ensuring brand partners and pet parents are accurately informed on how to set up their animals for success; to understand the process of selecting, training, working with and thinking like them. Seeing things from our talents' perspective is worth this small effort and can also save time (and money) for the entire production.

History:

The Animal Talent is led by Paula Stewart, who began her career working as a celebrity and music agent. It was in this capacity while assisting production companies, advertising firms, media houses, and all major television and radio channels, that she established long-standing industry relationships and an unrivaled contacts book.

Having migrated into the animal casting sphere several years ago, Paula has acquired substantial specialist knowledge and experience in the handling and casting of pets. Previous professional clients include Disney, Vogue, Tesco, Louis Vuitton, RSPCA, Aldi, Gucci, River Island, MSGM, Good Housekeeping, Reuters, Ford Motors, Warner Bros, Battersea Dogs and Cats Home, NowTV and more.

Lights, Camera, Action!

Our carefully curated roster boasts a wide array of cats, dogs and small furries, plus farm animals and even exotics. No request is too unusual!

Established by the team behind star dog model @Lilliput.the.maltese, labeled in the press as The Canine Kate Moss, the pet-focused agency benefits from unique connections, industry knowledge, and influence.

Congratulations, The Animal Talent Ltd, on your outstanding achievements in business. Thank you for providing jobs in London, UK, and setting a great example for small businesses everywhere. Keep up the excellent work.
